ORDER:

The Retrenchment and Reorganisation Committee has recommended the delegation from the Registrar to the Deputy Registrars of Cooperative Societies of the power to register under section 12 of the Madras Co-operative Societies Act, 1932 (Madras Act VI of 1932), the amendments to the bylaws of Co-operative Societies, which are deviations from the prescribed or approved model. The Registrar of Co-operative Societies agrees with the Committee and states that it is sufficeint, if the deviations from the model bylaws, which are important and material, are alone referred to him for his previous approval. The Government accept the Committee's recommendation and direct that only important and material deviations from the model bylaws should be referred to the Registrar for his previous approval and that all other amendments may be registered by the Deputy Registrars themselves.
